Feature licensing overview

Microsoft Teams Premium licensing - Microsoft Learn

Microsoft Teams Premium licensing - Microsoft Learn

Licensing overview:

Who should I license for Teams Premium?

- Teams Premium is per-user, per-month offering where each user who needs access to Teams Premium functionality needs to have a license assigned. The only way to ensure users have access to Teams Premium features is to assign them a license.

What's the experience when non-licensed users join a Teams Premium meeting?

- When the meeting organizer has a Teams Premium license, there are some specific meeting and event features that will extend the feature benefit to all meeting attendees. This includes organizational users, guests, and external participants even if they aren't licensed with Teams Premium.
- This type of extended coverage is done to ensure all attendees have a uniform Teams meeting experience. It is important to note that these scenarios cannot be used against our Online Services license terms.

Can you provide more details on the scenarios above?

- If a user needs access to a Teams Premium feature, license them to ensure consistent access and experiences to Teams Premium capabilities.
- External participants in Virtual Appointments don't require a Teams Premium license to benefit from Teams Premium advanced Virtual Appointments.
- For intelligent recap, all meeting participants need a Teams Premium license to benefit from these features.
- For live caption translation, advanced meeting protection, and advanced webinars, meeting participants (including guests and external participants) don't need the Teams Premium license to benefit from these premium features, if the meeting organizer is licensed with Teams Premium.
